From the Desk of the President

A few Sundays ago the physicians of Mahoning County participated in a medical "first". With the Lederle Laboratories sponsoring the day's expenses plus the Mahoning County Medical Society and Mahoning Chapter of the Academy of General Practice combining to obtain speakers and to publicize the program, a most successful day resulted. More than 150 physicians plus 100 wives attended a day of fascinating peeks into the future of cancer therapy.

Among the visiting physicians were doctors as far away as Cleveland and Pittsburgh. Summit County and Stark County were well represented. Where were you? We looked everywhere—even at the free luncheon—but couldn't find you. Some of your fellow practitioners were there, but you weren't.

Was it because of the day? All of those who attended thought Sunday was a good day for a meeting. A number of them took the time to say so.

Could it have been that you already knew all about the subject material? If so, you are above average. What do you know about V.A.M.P.? How deep does a Laser beam penetrate? What about the Rand vaccine? What can we look for in the future?

A number of the visitors have asked us to try to have another similar all-day program next year. This is your invitation to attend, participate, and to benefit both yourself and your patient.

At our last county medical society meeting no business could be conducted because of the lack of a quorum. Several months ago the business of a meeting had to be suspended because a large enough number of our doctors developed chair fatigue and went home, thus reducing the number present to less than the Constitutional minimum required to carry on the business of the Society.

The matter of poor attendance at meetings of all kinds is endemic and has been so for a long time. Doctors are no different from the rest of our population. Very few people like to go to meetings. Organizations of all kinds are aware of this fact, are concerned about it, and have not come up with the answer other than our Hospital Staffs which make attendance mandatory.

When our medical society cannot conduct its necessary business because the absence of so many is overwhelmingly more important than is the presence of the few who care enough to come, it becomes a matter of vital interest to all, the absent ones as well as those present.

The Constitution and By-Laws of our County Medical Society is most democratic. It is so worded that essentially it is the membership-at-large which runs its activities. It has a large Council to do its mental leg work, but final decisions lie with the general membership. By the same token it is necessary for that general membership to be present to act on matters of necessity.

When we join the Mahoning County Medical Society, we do so voluntarily. No one says we have to belong. However, once we have joined, we have also acquired certain new qualities. We have gained responsibility

Editorial

CAN A MEDICAL SOCIETY DIE?

It is a well accepted fact that in any organization there is a small nucleus that keeps it going on an administrative level. It is further recognized that attendance at meetings is considered good at fifty per cent of the general membership. If this is true for regular clubs, associations, etc., where the only requirement for membership is the desire to become a member; how much better should a professional society be where its members are exclusively physicians.

While it may be an anthropomorphism to speak of the death of the Medical Society, one cannot but notice the terminal signs of the illness. The wake was held on Tuesday February 21 when only 45 members were present. This number was not nearly enough for a quorum and the Society was frustrated from enacting official business. Following the realization by those present that paralysis had set in, the meeting was reduced to a bull session. Those of us who came found ourselves in the position of the Sunday parishioners who have to sit and listen to a sermon admonishing the wrong people.

This editorial is directed at those who were not present, or better yet, those who regularly miss meetings. Where were you? The excuse that you are too busy is a feeble one. The majority of those present belong to many organizations including many committee obligations to the local hospitals. Notably absent were past officers. Where were all the past presidents, secretaries, etc.? Does the fact that your term in office is over discharge your obligation for life?

But why don't you come? We have heard it said you are tired of listening to the same old thing. What is stopping you from changing the subject when you are there; if you don't come then don't complain. Attendance figures show that more turn out for a meeting when free meals are served. Are you children that you must be bribed into doing things for your own good?

Many words have been written on these pages about this subject but enthusiasm has remained poor. At first we attributed this to apathy but we have since been dumbfounded to find many doctors who apparently read nothing but the ads.

Fortunately the Society is not human and the paralysis is directly proportional to the interest, even death can be reversed if indeed it has died.

as well as rights, obligations as well as privileges. In so many words we have told our fellow physicians that we recognize that we along with them are responsible for the continued health and strength of our society; that we expect to accrue to us those rights and benefits which our predecessors obtained; that we are privileged to belong to this society and to bask in the light of its strength and to work within its positive benefits; and that we are obliged to keep it strong not only for ourselves but for those who will come after us.

No one of us has the right to any action—or lack of it—to weaken our society, for in so doing we weaken ourselves. If our society becomes emasculated by the indifference of its members, who will speak for us? Perhaps, you are willing to let the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare tell you how to practice? Perhaps you would like to have the American Hospital Association or some other similar friend of yours lay down the rules. Maybe you think you can go it alone.

Surely you can see that the medical society is your sole bulwark against our common foes. It must be a great source of interest and satisfaction to them to see you slowly destroying yourselves.

Our only defense against this process of self deterioration is to reverse the process. We must do everything we can to strengthen our society, not weaken it. The first thing to do is get to the monthly meetings so that our society can operate. Make the pledge along with me to attend each month's meeting. There is still time for us to regain our strength, but that time is rapidly getting shorter. Once we are shackled, ladies and gentlemen, "forever slavery" will be our lot in life and will be the heritage which we will bequeath to future practitioners of medicine.

President

MCMS GIVES "TODAY'S HEALTH" TO SCHOOLS

The public relations committee continues to administer and expand the youth and school program of the Mahoning County Medical Society, which was initiated last year. Realizing the educational value of the AMA magazine, "Today's Health," the committee recently offered to order two-year subscriptions for high schools and junior high schools in Mahoning County and for Youngstown University. To date, twenty-nine schools have taken advantage of the offer.

The medical society had previously placed the book, "Today's Health Guide," in the libraries of twenty-six schools, and had provided 75 guidance councilors with the careers book, "Horizons Unlimited."

The public relations purpose for providing the magazine subscriptions is two-fold. First, it give factual honest medical information for growing minds, and secondly, the ready availability of medical and health information may interest youngsters in a medical career and eventually provide more physicians for the Youngstown area.

WHY P.A.S.?

When the bar-room drunk yells, "I can lick any man in the house!", how can the detached seeker-after-truth be sure, one way or the other? Successive matches, between the lush and every other 'man in the house', with identification of the last man standing at the end of the evening, establish the truth value of the drunk's claim.

When we smugly say, "We practice excellent medicine here in our hospitals, as good as any, and better than most", again, how can the detached seeker-after-truth be sure? Truth here is not so simply determined.

The only practical way to evaluate our claim is to examine the records of our patients. Even more, we should compare our records with those from as many other short term general hospitals as possible. How can a Medical Staff do this, and still have enough time to earn a living?

The Board of Trustees of any hospital is ultimately responsible for what transpires in that hospital. In clinical matters, the Board must be properly advised by the Medical Staff. Who but a physician can judge the quality of the clinical care of the patient in a hospital? How can any physician, or committee of physicians, do this, without facts, so abstracted, arranged, and condensed, as to allow the physician to use his limited time mainly in the exercise of judgment?

In January of 1965, the Administrator at St. Elizabeth Hospital, at the request of the Executive Committee, engaged the services of the Commission on Professional and Hospital Activities, Inc., located in Ann Arbor, Michigan, to reduce to manageable proportions the task of reviewing over 20,000 charts a year.

Quite briefly, the CPHA, in performance of the Professional Activity Survey (PAS), receives an abstract of the record of each patient discharged. This factual abstract is prepared by a record room clerk. No requirement is made of the physician, except prompt and accurate completion of his own patient's clinical record.

At the headquarters of CPHA, these facts are recorded on magnetic tape, suitable for analysis and arrangement by computer. Monthly, quarterly, and semi-annually abstracts and coded case summaries are sent to the hospital, grouped in a manner to facilitate quick survey and to detect questionable areas and cases, without the review of a single chart.

Review of individual charts still must be done by the proper staff committee, but the number is much reduced. For example, our Surgical Service currently surveys EOR admissions by members of that Service. We could not review all of these charts. We simply tell the record librarian, "We want the records of patients discharged in August, 1) admitted by a surgeon through the EOR, 2) not operated within 24 hours, 3) with an admission temperature below 101, 4) with a haemoglobin of 10 grams or more, 5) with a leukocyte count of 15,000 or below, and 6) without trauma." From the monthly PAS reports, the record librarian can quickly "pull" the charts of the cases which meet the criteria we have set for the survey.

The use of blood transfusion can easily, and has been, surveyed, as has been the use of prophylactic antibiotics.

One month, we noted that 30% of our patients had report of albuminuria. The sensitivity of the test was adjusted.

We have noted that a surgical patient admitted on a Saturday has a longer hospital stay than one admitted on any other day. Consequently, we have revised admission policy somewhat.

Of great value to us is the chance of comparing our practices with those of many other PAS hospitals. Our Utilization Committee has been able to compare our average length of stay with matched cases in the other PAS hospitals. Only the stays of similar patients are compared. For instance, the stay of one of our patients, undergoing herniorrhaphy, who is a diabetic, over 65, and suffering a postoperative wound infection, would be compared with the average stay of similar patients in other hospitals. This matched comparison should eliminate the patient factor in comparing average hospital stays, allowing the reported figures to reflect only physician and hospital factors. After the stay of matched patients is compared, the computer can easily figure and report the statistical significance of any difference.

There are now over 1000 hospitals using the services of CPHA. This organization now records data on 23% of all discharges from short term, general hospitals in the U.S. and Canada. This gives us an excellent opportunity to see if "We practice excellent medicine here in our hospitals, as good as any, and better than most."

1200 TEEN-AGERS HEAR MEDICAL LECTURE

The Mahoning County Medical Society, at the invitation of the Industrial Information Institute, produced a medical lecture program for high-school science students that drew a crowd of 1200 teen-agers to the Boardman High School Auditorium, Feb. 6.

Dr. Elias T. Saadi, program chairman, working with the Science Advisory Committee of the Industrial Information Institute, prepared a program on open-heart surgery and catheterization keyed to the high-school level. Dr. Saadi lectured to the students and narrated two films that had been made at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Youngsters attending the lecture came on their own time, giving up an evening for the purpose. Despite 9-degree temperature and slippery roads, they filled the auditorium, coming from as far as Grove City, Alliance and Warren. They were an attentive audience, asked intelligent questions, and greeted the speaker with enthusiasm. It was the largest crowd to attend one of the scientific programs of the Industrial Information Institute to date.

The programs, two a year, are organized by the Science Advisory Committee of the Institute, a committee made up of area science teachers. The first program of the current season was on the subject of computers.

Committee chairman Dr. Albert F. Moritz, a science teacher at Niles McKinley High School, introduced Dr. Saadi. Students were welcomed by Mr. Clifford Eversole, science teacher at Boardman High School. Arrangements were made through Mr. R. B. Collins, executive director of the Industrial Information Institute.

DR. SCHREIBER WINS FREEDOMS MEDAL

Dr. Jack Schreiber recently received one of the nine Freedoms Foundation awards presented to individuals and schools in the Youngstown area.

Dr. Schreiber was named for the award as the result of his speech, "The Last Candle," which he has delivered on a number of occasions. He had not known that the speech was being submitted to the Freedoms Foundation.

The award, consisting of $100 and the Freedoms Foundation medal, will be presented at an area meeting to be held soon.

In presenting his speech, Dr. Schreiber illustrates his talk with a bit of magic involving disappearing lighted candles. "The Last Candle" to disappear is the one representing the individual's responsibility to provide for himself to the best of his ability.

THIRTY YEARS AGO — MARCH 1937

W. G. MacLachlan of the University of Pittsburgh told the Society that Pneumonia was still Captain of the Men of Death and the outlook for its control was gloomy.

The new revised Constitution was published in that issue to be voted on at the March meeting. It provided for incorporation of the Society and made the BULLETIN the official publication to give required legal notice of meetings to the members.

President Fuzy urged the newspapers to stop publishing advertisements of "Men's Specialists", "Dental Specialists", "Cancer Cures" and other nostrums. Gustafson was still going around to schools and clubs talking about "Syphilis". Dr. Poling was concerned about the lack of facilities for care of surgical emergencies in patients with contagious disease.

Doctors were urged by the advertisers to use Eggol (White Drugs) for general debility, Antiphlogistine for pneumonia, Soricin (Merrel) for "fecal toxicity" and Cherry with Guiacol (Lyons) for coughs and colds.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — MARCH 1947

Dr. Bill Allsop had an article on the new Lincoln Avenue Hospital, the first hospital in the U.S. owned and operated by Alcoholics Anonymous. It is still operating although the old building has been demolished to make way for the expansion of Youngstown University.

A survey conducted by the BULLETIN showed that most hospitalization plans would pay $4.50 to $5.00 a day for semi-private and were limited to $35.00 to $50.00 for the entire stay. The Pioneer Mutual Hospitalization also known as the Youngstown Hospital Agency would pay $6.00 a day for 42 days, $10.00 for operating room, $5.00 for anesthesia, laboratory and drugs and $10.00 for X-ray. Hospitalization plans have come a long way since then.

New members that month were: Louis Bloomberg, John LaManna, Stewart Patton, Jr. and Marie Krupko.

TEN YEARS AGO — MARCH 1957

President Ondash said that Youngstown was behind the times not to have a full time, fully qualified Commissioner of Health under a proper board of control with a properly regulated health district.

The campaign for Polio Immunization was in a state of utter confusion. Vaccine was in short supply and conflicting directives came every other day from the Polio Foundation.

Dr. John Heberding died. He was Youngstown's first Roentgenologist. He started as a general practitioner but pioneered in X-ray. At one time he was Roentgenologist for both of our hospitals. He trained Tamarkin and Baker and Ben Brown. His life was devoted to his work, he had no other interest. He was a staunch believer in the independence of professional men from hospital regulation. He left a firm imprint on the progress of roentgenology in this place.

New members that month were: Robert W. Parry, A. W. Geordan, Ben Conrad Berg, Salvatore Squicquero, L. F. Fagnano, Izzydor Werbner and Gene D. Fry. All of them have enriched the medical scene in the past ten years.

FREE TO MEMBERS ONLY

The items listed on the coupon below are free to Mahoning County physicians only. They are all good public relations aids, and have been made available to our members through the public relations committee.

Physicians are encouraged to display the fee plaque where all patients may see it. The plaque is distributed and endorsed by the American Medical Association.

The pamphlet rack comes equipped with a supply of eight different pamphlets on current medical subjects. It is a sound public relations tool, giving your patients first-hand and correct information on a number of medical problems, thus engendering good will for both the individual physician and the medical profession.

The "Winning Ways With Patients" brochure is designed to be read by your medical assistants. In it are a number of good public relations tips on how to handle patients and make friends for the boss. The public relations committee encourages the doctor to read it over before passing it along to his assistant. Good public relations begins at home.

GAMMA GLOBULIN AVAILABLE FROM RED CROSS

An American Red Cross directive has been forwarded to the Mahoning County Medical Society regarding "the availability without charge to physicians and hospitals through Red Cross, of gamma globulin for patients requiring long-term therapy in treatment for agammaglobulinemia and dysgammaglobulinemia.

"Fibrinogen is available for medical authorities at the reimbursement rate of $20 per unit.

"Request for either derivative should be directed by the physician or hospital to Dr. Evan Stone, Medical Director of the Blood program, Eastern Area, American National Red Cross, 615 North St., Asaph Street, Alexandria, Virginia, 22314, telephone — area code 202-737-8300.

"Please note that the gamma globulin to be secured in this way is for long-term therapy only and does not cancel out the procedure of securing small amounts for short term use, from the State Health Department through local health departments."

The information was sent to the medical society by Mrs. Laurence D. McPhee, Executive Director, Mahoning Chapter, American Red Cross.

S. Q. LAYPIUS OBSERVES:

Fifty years ago the Uptown District at Market and Indianola Ave. was known as Kyle's Corners. The old Kyle Farm occupied the area from Market Street over to Oak Hill Avenue. When the owner died he provided in his will that a part of the farm be preserved for pasture for his favorite horse and for many years the old white horse could be seen grazing in a pasture where the Mansion Restaurant is now. After the horse died, most of the land was given to the city for a playground which can be entered from Oak Hill at Earle Ave.

Down Indianola Avenue at Glenwood was Fosterville. There was a blacksmith shop there where Ben's Appliance Shop is now. In 1916 the blacksmith saw that times were changing and installed a gasoline pump. This writer would drive up in his spanking new 1916 Hupmobile touring car and say "Fillerup" at eleven cents a gallon. Those days we had touring cars and roadsters. No coupes, sedans or convertibles. A few rich people had limousines.

They talk now about car safety. Cars then were much safer. They had no seat belts, no bumpers, no windshield wipers, no defrosters, no rear view mirrors but they were safer. Why?

Because they were slower. The average driver went 25 miles an hour. Anyone who went 45 was a speeder. A 45 horse power engine was average and 90 horsepower was super.

At Market Street and Midlothian there was a dead end. Market Street Extension, known as the Boardman Road started one block west and ran south to North Lima. It was a brick road on the east side and dirt on the west side. Market and Midlothian Blvd. was known as "Dead Man's Curve" because so many cars failed to make the turn on Midlothian. One night Dr. Sam Sedwitz failed to make it and his car rolled over three times. He walked away unhurt.

Going south down the Boardman Road people would drive on the left, which was brick until they met a car coming north. Then they would get off on the dirt, raising a cloud of dust until the car passed and they could get back on the bricks again. There was not much traffic and they did not need to get off very often.

In downtown Youngstown, parking was no problem. You parked in front of the store and went in. Sometimes on Saturday you had to park in the next block and felt very put out about it. Most people went down town by electric trolley (five cents).

Now everybody has a car and there is no place to park and the trolley car is no more. Ain't it wonderful?

Doctors are bombarded with advice from banks, trust companies and Medical Economics about how to build up their estates. Why?

You save and sacrifice and plan for a big estate so your heirs can quarrel and fight over who gets what.

Better for you and your wife to enjoy the good life together. Give your children education and the tools to work with and let them make their own way.

JERSEY BLUE SHIELD ASKS FEE DECREASE

A recent news item from Trenton, New Jersey, reports that a lawyer "named by the state to represent the public interest," has arrived at a unique suggestion for saving New Jersey Blue Shield from what he terms financial disaster. He asked that doctors voluntarily "roll back" their fees from 5 to 7 percent. Blue Shield had requested a 24.7 rate increase. The public defender, after two days hearings, suggested the compromise of a small rate increase plus the fee decrease.

Be it further resolved: That this fund be administered by a committee appointed by the President of the Society, and that its expenditures be accounted for and approved by the members of council.

Following discussion, the motion was passed. The motion is to be presented to the membership at the Feb. 21 meeting of the society.

A letter was read from Atty. Bennett indicating that it is legally acceptable to expect the expenses in setting up the Mahoning County Medical Society Foundation to be paid by that Foundation.

A letter was read from Candy Shufflebarger, president of the Medical Assistants Society of Mahoning County, asking permission to attend the March medical society meeting for the purpose of promoting the Medical Assistants Society and sale of tickets for their Annual Benefit Card Party. The motion was made, seconded and duly passed that council accept the proposal.

Dr. Reese reported on the success of the Cancer Symposium, held Sunday, Jan. 29.

Dr. Reese introduced discussion concerning availability of X-rays and reports from the TB Sanitorium. Following discussion, it was decided that an Ad Hoc Committee be set up on TB.

It was announced that business at the Feb. 21 meeting, in addition to the measles campaign and the Physicians Family Welfare Fund, would include a presentation by Dr. Murray concerning the council-approved donation of support to the area-wide hospital planning organization.

Dr. Stertzbach read an article from the New York Times concerning Blue Shield doctors in New Jersey being asked to cut their fees for the purpose of saving the Blue Shield program. He suggested that it be reported in the Bulletin.

Meeting was adjourned.

—Howard Rempes
Executive Secretary

FOUNDATION RECEIVES FIRST GIFT

The Mahoning County Medical Society Foundation, organized last year, has received its first gift. Dr. S. W. Chiasson becomes the first benefactor.

Recently Dr. Chiasson spoke before two different groups on medical subject. Although local physicians never make a charge for addressing service clubs, PTAs, etc., very often the group wants to make a gift to the speaker. When Dr. Chiasson was proffered checks on both occasions, he requested that they be made over to the Foundation.

The Foundation Committee expresses thanks to Dr. Chiasson and reminds all members that the Foundation stands ready to receive gifts, donations or bequests for the purpose of helping local students in the pursuit of a medical education.
